SEE RAPTORS ON SEPTEMBER 12: 1:30-2:30 for young kids 3:00-4:00 for older kids.

On September 12, Joe Rogers from the Wildlife Recovery Association will bring live raptors to Fenner. WRA is one of the oldest organizations in Michigan that cares for injured and orphaned wildlife. It specializes in rehabilitation of birds of prey such as eagles, owls, and hawks. Joe Rogers gives hundreds of presentations per year to schools and special interest groups of sell-out crowds all over Michigan. His presentation will feature live birds of prey that have been injured in such a way that they can never survive in the wild.

SEE BATS OF THE WORLD ON NOVEMBER 1: 1:30-2:30 for young kids 3:00-4:00 for older kids.

Bats common in Michigan are insectivorous, catching small flying insects, by echolocation. Some bats consume up to one-half their weight of insects in a night. On November 1, a show from the Organization for Bat Conservation at the Cranbrook Institute of Science will arrive at Fenner Nature Center with big and little bats from all over the world. Meet their bat-man. Wear your costume, stop in at our gift shop and receive a coupon towards a purchase. A prize will be awarded to the battiest guest.

SEE BUGS OF THE WORLD ON DECEMBER 6 at 1 PM

Did you know that a cricket's ears are on its knees? Or that a fly has taste buds on its feet? Come visit Fenner Nature Center on Sunday, December 6, from 1:00-3:00 p.m. to learn all about bugs. The MSU Bug House will be bringing both live and pinned specimens.
